Petition to Save the Macal River Valley, Belize from Fortis' dam

We the undersigned strongly oppose Fortis' plans to build the Chalillo dam in the Macal River Valley of Belize. The dam would flood one of Central America's last remaining intact rainforests, destroying habitat for a number of rare and endangered species that have lost much of their habitat elsewhere in Central America. Species that would be affected include Scarlet Macaw, the jaguar and Belize's national animal, the tapir. In addition, untouched ancient Maya monuments would be flooded. The dam would consolidate Fortis' monopoly in Belize, where Fortis charges more than three times more for electricity than the average price in Canada. The dam is a bad deal for Belize and a black mark for Canada. Fortis, there are other options. Don't build the Chalillo dam.
